Last weekend, something happened to our TV. It didn't work. At first, we were upset. But, then we talked about our day. It was really fun. Later, my sister and I helped our mother and cleaned the house at 3. In the afternoon, my grandfather showed us how to play an old game. We enjoyed it a lot. Also, I participated in an online course at 5 and then downloaded some short stories from the internet. I'm interested in reading short stories. I read one of them at 7. My sister connected to the internet and updated her blog at 6:30. She downloaded some songs from the internet at 7:15. She's interested in music. All day we were busy doing different things. At night, we were all happy. No one talked about TV.
