I, John Edwards, will always remember the field trip I made to the zoo in 1988. It was then that I caught measles from Peter, one of my friends. Before he met us at the zoo, he had gone to visit his cousin who was recovering from measles. The next day, Peter was complaining about a sore throat, a bad cold and high fever. When he was diagnosed by a doctor as having measles, his parents rang me up to warn me that I had been exposed to measles too. By the next day, I was also showing the same symptoms. My doctor advised me to stay at home for the following two weeks as sick leave.

I was quite pleased with the doctor's instruction. I spent the time reading storybooks, listening to music and watching television. When I got bored, I would call up Peter, who also had to spend two weeks at home, for a chat. Unfortunately, the two weeks passed by too quickly. When we returned to school, we had to work twice as hard to catch up with our classmates. It was definitely not worth the so-called holiday!
